Regional Airport Schwäbisch Hall EDTY

2. PART FREE OF AUTHORIZATION B

PART 3 AIR TRAFFIC SERVICES

For Schwäbisch Hall airfield, an Aerodrome Flight Information Service (AFIS) has been designated as a necessary air navigation service in accordance with Annex 2 of the Air Navigation Services Arrival and Departure Charges Regulation (FSAAKV) dated August 9, 2021. Accordingly, air navigation service charges are levied for the use of air navigation services and facilities by aircraft during arrival and departure (Charge Category 2). The unit of measurement for Charge Category 2 is the landing.

The rate charged for the use of air navigation services by an aircraft in Charge Category 2 is determined annually by the Federal Supervisory Authority for Air Navigation Services. The amount of the applicable air navigation service charge is calculated based on the aircraft's maximum allowable take-off weight.

A corresponding fee notice is issued for the collection of the air navigation service charge.
